

New Students at NBCS

“Enrollment should top 50 students this year at the Newark Boys Chorus School,” stated Brenda McLeod, School Administrator and recruitment expert. Last year the school had an enrollment of 40 students but the Class of 2017 graduated 13 top-notch students to “best fit” high schools, leaving a gap for the school to fill. Ms. McLeod spent a great deal of time this spring and summer sharing the benefits of our school with families in the area. The results speak for themselves. Mailings were sent to all local homes; announcements were made on our website; our parents shared their views of the school with friends and neighbors.

© Richard Willett

Special assemblies were held in several of the elementary schools and open-houses were held at the school. A major part of the enrollment process is a full day visit to the school by all prospective students and their parents. This allows the candidates to “interview” us so that they will understand fully the very special qualities of our school especially the person-to-person relationship between the teachers and the students and the small class sizes.

Pictured above are entering fourth grader, Zion Turner and his Dad while new seventh grader, Jaylen Dixon boards the bus for the Frost Valley Camp experience. “From the enthusiasm of our students and families, it will certainly be a very successful year,” commented Ulysses Morris, Director of Academics.

© Richard Willett