

Krystina McGee (Natal) has been teaching at the Newark Boys Chorus School since 2014, when she was placed as a student teacher for science. She currently teaches science, grades 4-7, and art grades 4-8. She received her B.A in biology and K-12 science education certification from New Jersey City University in May of 2014. She enjoys the outdoors as well as collecting rocks and other artifacts which she brings into her classroom to share with her students. Aside from teaching, Krystina enjoys cake decorating and works for a local custom cake shop. She also works at an art studio and owns her own fundraising organization which hosts art events to raise money for various purposes. She is an active member of Berea Baptist Church in Kearny NJ, and does a lot of work with her church ministry and programs.
